Work Experience :

I'm Mahir Ahmed, a Front-End Developer who loves building modern, responsive, and user-friendly websites. I always strive to create web experiences that are not only visually appealing but also easy and effective to use. I have strong expertise in HTML, CSS, and JavaScript, which allows me to build modern, clean, and interactive user interfaces (UI). I follow responsive design principles to develop websites that work beautifully across mobile, tablet, and desktop devices. I enjoy creating fast, modern, and visually appealing frontend experiences using React.js and Tailwind CSS. Alongside that, I also have experience working with Firebase, REST APIs, and API Integration to build dynamic and real-time web applications. For version control and project management, I use Git and GitHub, which help me maintain clean workflows, track code efficiently, and collaborate effectively in development environments..

Learning new technologies and staying up-to-date is extremely important to me. I regularly try to improve my skills and stay aware of modern web development trends. My goal is to become a skilled Full-stack Developer and work on projects that provide effective solutions to real-life problems and create a positive impact on people's lives.

Achievements & Certifications :

Collectively, I have completed over 30 successful projects and served more than 6 clients.

Language skill : Fluent in Bangla and English. Excellent at Writing English.
